

UA is fundamental to Alaska's economy and workforce development

UA makes high-quality, accessible, and affordable post-secondary education available across Alaska.

UA leads the nation in advancing the U.S. role in the changing Arctic.

UA is committed to providing a competitive compensation package to attract and retain high-passion for higher education.

Stable state funding allows UA programs to communities, and state and national security.

UA holds the potential to reshape Alaska's role in the Arctic and contribute significantly to the lives of people living in the Arctic.

Rising inflation, insurance costs, and cyber-security fixed operating costs.

Supporting State and Arctic Leadership

UA's three universities each have strategic enrollment initiatives based on unique strengths and locations. From people with some credentials but no degree and other non-traditional students, efforts will attract more students into the UA system and guide them through the completion of into leadership, humanities, social sciences and additional mental health resources at UAF and UAS to increase retention, success and well-being.

State needs require investment into workforce programs and Arctic research.

jobs that lead to the diversification and

Our universities and community campuses each carry a high-value and high-quality reputation and are respected as innovative and responsive 'jewels' in the state and their region and communities.

Our universities and community campuses are efficient and responsive with diversified funding focused Demonstrating a commitment to employees is key to attracting top talent. UA strives to make employee compensation competitive to institutions with similar UA is known as a leader in Arctic policy and research.

Investments into UAA and UAF athletics programs and facilities enables recruitment of top athletes and recognition of the significant community support for

907.453.2084

Juneau, AK 99804