

The State Committee for Research honors Alaska's

Northern Innovators

For centuries, Southeast Alaska Natives have hauled in halibut with a traditional wood hook that is also a work of art and an ingenious conservation tool.

The traditional wood Tlingit, Haida and Tsimshian Halibut Hook is a sophisticated and innovative piece of technology unlike any other fish hook.

